

FAC 530. Professional Development

McPherson College supports the professional development of its faculty in several ways. It offers regular workshops and presentations on campus, provides an annual allowance for attending academic or professional conferences and for pursuing continuing education, and gives individual faculty members the option of using a portion of their annual allowance for professional memberships and subscriptions.