

2.17 Exempt Staff with Teaching Duties

McPherson College exempt staff may be asked during the course of their employment to teach up to two (2) courses per academic semester as a part of their regular position with the college. Teaching may not be considered additional compensation unless an exception is granted by the employee's cabinet member and human resources.